

Invitation to Scientific Symposium

50 years with Göttingen Minipigs

28 February 2019 at 09:30-16:00 hrs.

Venue: Faculty of Medical and Health Sciences, University of Copenhagen, Frederiksberg Campus
Bülowsvej 17, Main Auditorium (Festauditoriet), 1870 Frederiksberg C, Denmark

Registration: By email to spp@minipigs.dk before 21 February 2019 – Registration is free and includes both lunch and networking drinks

09:30-10:00	Registration and coffee
10:00-10:05	Welcome. Lars Friis Mikkelsen, Ellegaard Göttingen Minipigs, Denmark
10:05-10:30	Right from the start: 50 years with Göttingen Minipigs. Jens Ellegaard, Ellegaard Göttingen Minipigs, Denmark
10:30-11:00	The use of Göttingen Minipigs in toxicology and beyond over more than 30 years at Citoxlab. Andy Makin, Citoxlab, Denmark
11:00-11:30	Large animal models for influenza A virus infection. Kerstin Skovgaard, Danish Technical University, Denmark
11:30-12:00	Controlling blood gasses without breathing – in minipigs and humans. Benedict Kjærgaard, Aalborg University Hospital, Denmark
12:00-13:00	Lunch
13:00-13:30	Minipig models in obesity, diabetes, and atherosclerosis. Trine Pagh Ludvigsen, Novo Nordisk, Denmark
13:30-14:00	Why pigs are valuable in AstraZeneca research. Filipe Nunes, AstraZeneca, Sweden
14:00-14:30	Coffee break
14:30-15:00	Göttingen Minipigs as non-rodent species – specific advantages. Henrik Duelund Pedersen, Ellegaard Göttingen Minipigs, Denmark
15:00-16:00	Networking and celebration of 50 Years with Göttingen Minipigs

